THE PLEASANTON SIDE OF ARRAL TROUBLE

A new aspect of the Madame Arral incident at the Young Hotel on Tues-day evening comes with the other side of the story, which was probtainable at that time on account of the lateness of the hour.

It seems that the Bussetts stayed at the Pleasantan for one month and paid their bill promptly. After that they continued to occupy the finest apart-ments in the building and paid nothing for two months, staying on only by the courtesy of the management.

At the end of two months, during which no payment had been made, they were politely asked to pay or move. It is said that Bassett became a trifle insolent at this request, and practically medient at this request, and practically refused to move. They were induced to move family, however, and then to move family, however, and then Saffina Cruz.

Sugar and Ties.

Captain Matson, president of the Captain Matson, president of the Matson Navigation company, which recently acquired a contract for the Alexander & Baldwin sugar output after January, 1909, retiring this centract for the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, will arrive here on the steamship Lurime, September 25. One reasoning the contract to convent the contract of son for his visit is to complete arrange-ments for carrying this sugar from the Alexander & Baldwin plantations to San Francisco, for which the Lurline,

Alexander & Baldwin plantations to San Francisco, for which the Larline, Hilonian and possibly the Enterprise and Pleiades will be used. The latter vessel is to be placed on the Seattle-Honolulu run, but whether she will take a triangular route with San Francisco as a port of call is not yet known.

Captain Matson has, in addition, many private interests here, being a large owner is the Honolulu plantation, and is connected with the Dowsett estate.

The contract for carrying the ohim tie output of the Hawaiian Mahogany company from Hilo to San Francisco for delivery to the Santa Fe railway, is also in Captain Matson is hands. For this contract Captain Matson may use several of the aniling vessels he owns. He has quite a fleet of sallers, many of which have been laid up in Oakiand ereck. Since steamers have been used largely in recent years in carrying she wald see black specks floating before my eyes. I would wake up every morning as tired as I would have been in disuse, except as coal hulks used by the United States government. Captain Matson plans to keep a large number of these vessels in the island trade, however, and two will be retained on the San Francisco-Honolulu run.
